TREE SURGERY | STUMP REMOVAL | HEDGE MAINTENANCE

Veteran Oak Tree in Camberley, Surrey.

In Camberley, we at Tree Marshalls Ltd embarked on a mission to preserve a majestic oak tree threatened by Ganoderma fungal brackets. Guided by a Tree Preservation Order, our team sprang into action. We trimmed low-hanging branches, pruned those posing a risk to the affected stem, and strategically reduced lateral growth to maintain canopy balance. Furthermore, we boosted vitality by clearing away deadwood. It was heartening to be part of efforts to safeguard this invaluable natural treasure.

Tree Reduction

Tree reducing is considered an art in the tree surgery industry. It takes a professional arborist to be able to reduce the size of the tree whilst still insuring it is kept perfectly symmetrical for completion. This would be done to either reduce the size of the tree to gain light within your garden or bring weight out of the branches to ensure longevity and future growth. Tree reducing can also be used to remove weight out of potentially dangerous limbs. As you can see from the image to the left. This tree had suffered of the summers draught in 2020.
